

SILA: Basics of Risk Management

Description This course looks at the many types of commercial coverages available and how they meet a business' needs. First, the many risks a business is exposed to are considered. Next, principles of risk management are explained, and the importance of insurance in managing risks is defined. Liability coverages are then examined, for large and small businesses. Business property coverages are discussed, followed by business auto coverage. Transportation and communication risks are addressed through inland marine coverage. The course concludes with a look at Ocean Marine Coverages.
